Many Attend Tea for Lemon Grove School

Former students, teachers and board members showed up from as far away as Fresno to attend the memorial tea held Sunday, February 1 for Lemon Grove School, to be demolished soon.

Lemon Grove School District Supt. Dr. Robert Sutton said that 200 to 300 people attended the afternoon of nostalgia which included informal tours of the old building now surrounded by the newer Lemon Grove Junior High School on Lincoln st. and School ln.

Among the past members of the school's governing board who dropped in to take a last look at what was at one time the only public school in Lemon Grove, were E. J. Dorman, Mrs. Jessie Pearce, Bill VanDusen and Bert Cosby.

At public auction Friday preceding the tea, school officials sold almost all excess items that were being stored in the building since it was phased out as a school building in 1953.

The District collected about $1500 from the auction which drew a crowd of about 75. Furniture, cafeteria equipment, a piano and record players were among the items sold.

Dismantling of the building has already begun. Workmen last week started removing the maple floor boards from the classrooms. The District hopes to salvage as much of the material from the old school as possible.

Mrs. Higgins Becomes CdO Nonagenarian

Mrs. Higgins has cared for her son all his life. He is sightless and deaf, the result of an injury at birth. Billy, now 64, lives with his mother at the home.

Mrs. Higgins was the breadwinner of the family when Mr. Higgins, now deceased, was disabled due to a back injury.

She was a cook at the now defunct Ernie's Rancho, a restaurant in El Cajon which featured a display of wild animals.

A party honoring Mrs. Higgins birthday was furnished by Mrs. Leo Cochran who provides cakes and gifts to all residents of the home for birthdays. Mr. Cochran runs Cochran & Co. Tools, a machine shop in Lemon Grove.

Mrs. Higgins is in good health and is still very alert. She gets around without the aid of a wheelchair or cane.

RECORDS — Records are expected to topple next week at the 10th annual Indoor Games at the Sports Arena. In last year's spectacular mile Tarzania's Filbert Baye leads Rick Wohlhuter and Johnny Walker. Bayi won in 3:46.4. Walker, in August, became the first man to break 3:50 barrier. The track at the Arena is notoriously fast. Another record may be expected.

Eleven World Records Listed In J-in-B Indoor Games Feb. 21

SAN DIEGO — Somebody was talking to Peter Graham, owner of the San Diego Sports Arena, recently about world records.

"Do you realize how many have been set in the Jack-in-the-Box Indoor Games?" Graham was asked.

Turned out 11 world records and two ties of world records have been set in the meet which celebrates its 10th anniversary Saturday night, February 21.

Graham was so impressed that he decided to put a plaque listing all the records set in the meet.

It will be on view for the first time for this year's Indoor Games which feature once again some of the greatest athletes in the world — Dwight Stones, Al Feuerbach, Rick Wohlhuter, Dan Ripley, Marty Liquori, Don Quarrie, Steve Williams and so many more.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The rains, so damn long delayed, finally came and were blessed for their coming. The dry, almost parched earth drank deeply from the falling wet and turned green with richness. It's almost as if the Almighty had granted his blessing on the tournament and the crowd that came to watch.

The Andy Williams-San Diego Open tees up today over both the north and south courses of the Torrey Pines golf works, with the south getting the action exclusively for the final two rounds. The fairways, greens and even the rough of both courses have never been in better shape.

"The rain came at just the right time," smiles Willie Wansa, resident pro and chief protagonist at Torrey. "It gave the course a good soaking and three days of rest. I've never seen it in such tremendous condition."

And most of the best swingers in the world will enjoy that pleasure over the next four days as they battle for the $36,000 first place prize, or a share of the $180,000 AWSDO purse. Enough to bring the beast out in the best. Even on a beautiful course like Torrey Pines.

Wansa once came up with a perfect description of the place. "The only way to match Torrey's beauty," he said, "is to plant your trees 1,000 years ago."

And it's true. Torrey's courses are layed out over sloping hills framed around deep canyons carved by ice glaciers of the distant past. The fairways and greens are blended into picturesque settings in such a manner as to compliment the richness of God's handiwork.

But it can be tough, too. And it's been tightened up. "It's not a drive, pitch and putt course," insists Wansa. "You have to be long, but you have to keep your ball in play. There are only a few holes on either course where an errant tee shot won't get you in trouble. And around the canyons, that's big trouble. Like, maybe 75 feet into rocks and scrub brush."

South's no. 7 is a prime example. It's a beautiful watching hole, 461 yards, par-4, dogleg to the right with the green nestled cozy up against a deep canyon. It's the no. 1 handicap test on the course and is rated among the 10 toughest golf holes faced by the pros on the American circuit.

And South's 18 is another beauty. It's a par-5, 501 yard slight dogleg right to an elevated green guarded by traps on both sides and a BILLABONG in front.

Bruce Devlin wasted $3,000 in shots on this test last tourney. With a following wind he was long off the tee and short with his second shot. His ball hit the slope above the water, rolled back and came to rest just below the surface. He was laying 72 at the time.

Now he could have taken a penalty stroke, dropped back and pitched near enough to the pin to go down in one for a respectfully 75.

But with his ball sitting there just below the surface, he fell to temptation. He chose the adventurous route and played her where she lied.

It took him six strokes to get out of the water. Add 2-putts and Devlin grinned home self-consciously with an 80, approximately $3,000 poorer than he would have been playing it safe. Of such stuff, heroes are born.

The watery trap, of course, has been named after him. At first they were going to call it Devlin's Pond, but the handsome Australian suggested they use the down-under term for pond.

So it came to pass, last Monday, Bruce Devlin got in a rowboat and officially christened "DEVLIN'S BILLABONG," the only known Australian water hazard in North America.

However, Devlin and all the other down-unders, as well as the up-overs face a new terror on the 17th of the North course on the first two rounds.

Not one, but two water hazards join a rambling trap and a giant eucalyptus tree to block the par-3 178 yard hole. It all looks very pretty from the highly elevated tee, but not to the players.

The smaller pond laps along the right edge of the putting surface just 10 feet from the green. The other, considerably larger, sits right in the middle of the damn fairway. Both are nameless . . . up till now.

Gerulaitis-Connors Matchup Anticipated In La Costa Tourney

Vitas Kevin Gerulaitis has signed for the La Costa Racquet Club's Independent Players Assn. finals to be held March 16-21.

He says he welcomes the obvious possibility of a re-match with his chief adversary, Jimmy Connors.

"Connors is the man to beat in tennis today," Gerulaitis said. "I've had some fantastic matches against him and I'm looking forward to another one in this event."

Sixteen of the world's best male professionals will be involved in the six-day event that has a minimum purse of $100,000 with $30,000 going to the winner. Ille Nastase, in addition to Connors and Gerulaitis, is included in the field.

Tickets Ready

Tickets at $4, $6 and $8 for Tuesday through Thursday (afternoon and evening) and at $6, $8 and $10 for Friday (afternoon and evening), Saturday and Sunday matches may be purchased at La Costa or at Ticketron agencies throughout San Diego County. Season tickets to all 10 sessions also may be reserved by calling 438-9111.

At 21, Gerulaitis is ranked fourth among American players and was a double winner on tour last year, finishing with an 8 of 12 winning record in matches played against top competition.

Even though he won a controversial match against Connors two years ago, Gerulaitis finally gained deserved national recognition when he went five sets before losing to Marty Reissen in the finals of the Pro Indoor tournament last year. That event this year was won by Connors.

President Howe and Aeros Here for WHA Play Sat.

The San Diego Mariners make their final home appearances of the month this week before taking off on a six-game, 14-day road trip that will keep them out of town until March 2.

The W.H.A. Mariners host their Western Division rival Houston, Saturday, at 7:30 p.m.

This year's revised WHA playoff format could find all four West clubs in the post-season tournament and San Diego, Minnesota, Houston and Phoenix will spend the remainder of the schedule attempting to assure that prediction and vieing for positions to gain the home ice advantage.

San Diego enters this week's activity with winger Don Burgess slowed by a charley horse but most of the remaining players in good physical condition.

Coach Ron Ingram's forces have won 11 and tied two of their last 14 home tries and must continue a hot Sports Arena pace while attempting to improve on a 7-16-1 road mark. The Mariners are averaging four goals a game while surrendering 3.50.

Playing President

Houston, featuring professional sports' only playing team president, ageless Gordie Howe, is atop the Western Division in its bid for a third straight AVCO Cup crown. Larry Lund, Frank Hughes and Andre Hinse are with Gordie as the main Aero scorers.

Winfield, Almon Sign Up; 14 Padres Under Contract

Outfielder Dave Winfield and infielder Bill Almon have signed their 1976 contracts with the Padres, General Manager Peter Bavasi said. It brings the number of players under contract to 14.

Winfield, 24, was one of the club's top offensive threats last season with a .267 batting average. He finished the year with the club lead in runs batted in with 76 and placed second behind Willie McCovey in home runs with 15.

A pair of hand injuries slowed down Winfield last year as he was hitting .297 when struck on the palm of the right hand by a throw by Montreal's Tim Foli while attempting to break up a double play. He missed a week with that injury in mid-June and then in early July he was struck on the back of the hand by Charlie Hough of the Dodgers which compounded the problem. His average plummeted from a .301 in late June to a low of .258 at one point.

23 Thefts

He led the team in RBI and topped the club with 23 stolen bases, marking the first time in five years that Enzo Hernandez had not been the team leader.

After only 2½ years he already ranks high in several career categories. He ranks third in stolen bases (32), fourth in RBI (163) and batting average (.267), fifth in home runs (38), sixth in runs scored (140) and ninth in hits (307).

The 23-year-old former No. 1 draft choice will go to spring training to battle Enzo Hernandez and Hector Torres for the shortstop position. Last season at Hawaii he hit .228 for the Islanders in all 144 games. He had 33 stolen bases at Hawaii, second in the PCL.

Del Mar Thoroughbreds to Benefit Cancer Society

An afternoon program of standardbred racing is staged at the Del Mar Race Track on Sunday, February 22 for the benefit of the American Cancer Society's San Diego County Unit, it was announced by G. R. Wheelock, M.D., chairman.

The racing matinee has been held for more than a decade but it was not until recent years that horsemen indicated a desire to contribute to a local charity. Wheelock, then active in the Del Mar Chamber of Commerce, suggested the Cancer Society be named the benefactor.

Eight races will be run starting at 1 p.m. These serve as final tune-ups before the standardbreds are shipped to various tracks to begin a season of competition.

Admission is free, but spectators are encouraged to contribute to the Cancer Society as they enter the grounds.

A "Barn Party" follows in the posh turf club. Admission is by $10 donation. Local restaurants will donate refreshments.

First Ladies Behind Wheel

The first known woman driver in the U. S. was Genevra Delphine Mudge who drove an electric-powered car in New York in 1898 and raced in a gasoline-powered vehicle the following year. The first licensed woman driver in the nation was Mrs. John Howell Phillips of Chicago in 1899.

Increased Auto Fees Eyed for Highway Funds

Legislation to save CALTRANS from impending bankruptcy could result in creation of over 120,000 new private-sector jobs, according to San Diego Assemblyman Bill Craven.

Craven said his measure would provide an additional $400,000 for development and maintenance of public transit systems in the San Diego area.

The Craven bill, (AB 2771) part of a seven-point jobs-creation program recently unveiled in Sacramento by Assembly Republicans, would generate additional revenue for the California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) through increases in motor vehicle fees, enabling the department to continue its program of freeway construction and maintenance.

Craven warned that "the point of no return of highway and urban transit financing, is fast approaching and that the State Highway Program is in a critical financial situation requiring increased funding if it is to survive."

Violence Grows in County Against Cops and People

Violence against sheriff's deputies outraced the increasing crime rate against citizens, Sheriff John Duffy said.

In the five years from 1970-1975 crime against the citizen and the sheriff's deputy has increased alarmingly, he noted.

Assaults with a deadly weapon on citizens increased 218 per cent. Assault and batteries increased 155 per cent, robberies, 148 per cent, rape 78 per cent and burglaries 72 per cent, he said.

"During the same five years assaults on my deputies increased 622 per cent and the number of deputies injured in assaults increased 1,440 per cent," Duffy said.

In 1970 only 27 deputies were assaulted — injuring 5.

In 1975 there were 168 assaults leaving 77 injured.

The sheriff's primary law enforcement jurisdiction is all of the unincorporated area, plus the cities of Del Mar, Vista and San Marcos — about 3,800 square miles.

People Up 25%, Cops 10%

"Population has increased 25 per cent over the past five years but the number of deputies engaged in policing have increased only 10 per cent—from 311 to 342.

The number of patrol cars available during that period were increased from 20 to 35 by going primarily to one-man cars.

"With 35 patrol cars available at any one time, trying to protect 405,000 citizens in such a large area gives the thinnest police protection of any major jurisdiction in the state," he said.

He said an average one-patrol deputy covers 108 square miles with a population of 11,000-15,000 residents.

342 sheriff's officers in law enforcement positions to cover the entire county equates to 8/10th of a man for each 1,000 citizens.

Other county jurisdictions range from 1.0 to 1.7 officers for each 1,000 population.

His officers cover 12.31 square miles each while other jurisdictions range from a low of one officer for each 13/100ths of a mile (El Cajon) to the second highest (Carlsbad) with one for each 8/10ths of a mile.

$1,480 is Loot

Included in the loss were various pieces of jewelry, a typewriter, calculator and portable teevee.

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty yaers ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

A new combination mail service became a permanent part of the Lemon Grove Post Office. Used on a trial basis until it officially became Post Office policy in February, 1956, the mail service permitted the user to indicate the presence of a letter or message inside of second, third or fourth class mail plus the regular rate on the other class.

Citizens of Lemon Grove were interested in a $5,230,000 irrigation district bond issue. Voters would soon decide if they wanted an additional supply line to be built to bring more water into the Lemon Grove area.

Youngsters from the Lemon Grove Juniors were making plans to visit two television shows in Los Angeles. The tour took the youngsters to the sets of the "Bob Crosby Show" and the now famous "Queen for a Day" program. The trip also included a stop at the Farmers Market.

The latest hit record to make the charts was by "that new sensational group," the Platters with their rendition of the "Great Pretender."

Advertising in the Review/Bulletin 20 years ago shows that you could lube your car for as low as 99 cents. Women's sport moccasins sold at a local shoe store for $2.99. You could buy a mattress for $19.88 with a down payment of 50 cents and regular payments of 50 cents a week. And a four-package roll of toilet tissue could be purchased for 29 cents.

Mrs. Briggs Joins Supervisor's Race

Cheryl J, Briggs, 36, a mother and housewife of rural El Cajon, has entered the race for the County Board of Supervisors, in District 2 which is now served by Supervisor Dick Brown.

Brown is not seeking re-election.

Mrs. Briggs is a former school teacher, married to an attorney, and the mother of three children. She described herself as a "down-to-the seed grassroots candidate."

Her concerns are for people on fixed incomes who she says needs a tax break, and for people who are so frustrated by government which has become so big and aloof that communication is not possible. That makes people apathetic and resentful, she says. She proposes to make such people part of programs now in existence in order to obtain their understanding and support for a government that is more responsive.

Red Tape

She tells of the bureaucratic red tape that caused the people of her area to fight county government 4, 5 and 6 times for fire protection last year when the board of supervisors announced their decision to quit paying State Forestry for protection in unincorporated county areas.

As a supervisor she would give priorities to needed programs and support only those programs which work. She would listen to the "small voices" of people who are not now being heard.

Regarding the supervisors' quarrel with the sheriff, she notes that Sheriff John Duffy is an elected official and is responsible to the people.

She believes that welfare recipients should take work that is made available for them or be dropped from the welfare rolls.

"I am an idealist. I feel that there is some of the American Dream left in the hearts of the people," she said.

Jamul Residents Meet Tonight; Landfill, Fire Dept. on Agenda

By John Kowalczyk

Members of the new Jamul Volunteer Fire Department will report to residents on progress in the department.

Also on the agenda will be a report by members of Jamul Citizens Committee on the latest developments regarding the proposed county landfill area in Jamul.

Those attending will hear of progress in Jamul's campaign to stop the proposed 323 acres of land from being converted into a dumping ground for refuse collected in parts of San Diego City and East County communities.

The proposed site is located south of Rt. 94 and east of Steele Canyon rd.

'Don't Dump on Jamul'

The "Don't Dump on Jamul" campaign is in full swing in the remote Jamul area, east of Spring Valley.

Realty broker Lucile Grevencamp has donated the use of her offices on Highway 94 near the Steele Canyon rd. intersection for use as campaign headquarters. The office is manned seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Inside are bumper stickers with the "Don't Dump on Jamul" slogan, petitions, maps and aerial photographs available for viewing.

Petitions and bumper stickers have also been placed at other Jamul business locations including Rouse's Corner, Lela's Hobby House, Shelby Main's Beauty Parlor, the Tack Room, Simpson's Nursery and Van Norman's Realty.

Organizers of the movement against the proposed landfill are promoting a mass letter writing campaign directed to public officials.

A newsletter being distributed by the Jamul Citizen's Committee urges that nearby residents at the proposed sight — adults, teens and children — write to state and county officials to voice their opposition.

Children Write

Children are also being encouraged to register their protests on special youth petitions.

Members of the Committee are opposed to the dump site for a number of reasons, not the least of which is the "severe adverse environmental impact" they feel will result.

Environmental complaints include the "potential generation of methane gas and other undesirable pollutants," possible adverse effects on the watershed in the area, potential ground water pollution, destruction of trees and "intolerable" noise pollution from garbage trucks which may echo from the natural "bowl" shape of the geographic area.

Several have been vocal about fears of pollution brought by sea gulls who may be lured to the sight. Though county officials have told committeemen that the gulls would not travel that far inland, Jamul residents are skeptical.

They are also concerned about possible traffic problems.

Heavy truck traffic poses a safety hazard to school children in the area and will create traffic congestion problems on the single-lane Highway 94, members of the Committee say. They are also concerned about a narrow bridge on 94 west of the dump site which would need to be widened to accommodate the trucks, they say.

Fire Truck Arrives

News about the newly formed fire department to be discussed at tonight's meeting includes an expected announcement that the surplus fire truck, which has been under repair, was delivered last week to the home of volunteer Fire Chief True Butler.

The sight of the truck in the back county was a bit of an oddity to residents as it arrived bearing the name "Seal Beach Fire Department."

A proposed site for the Jamul fire station is expected to be announced at tonight's meeting.

Jamul-Las Flores school is located on Lyons Valley rd. in Jamul. Meeting time is 8 p.m.

2 Breath Tests Mandatory, DMV Tells Officers

Regulations regarding breath alcohol tests for suspected drinking drivers have gotten a bit more complicated recently.

As of December 24, the breath tests must include two separate breath samples which result in blood alcohol concentrations which do not differ by more than .02 per cent.

In a reminder sent to all law enforcement agencies recently, State Motor Vehicles Director Herman Sillas explained the new requirement.

Sillas pointed out that if there is a difference of more than .02 per cent between the first and second sample, it may require three or more breath tests to obtain two valid ones.

Turning down a second or third test is not advised. In cases where the suspect refuses to complete two valid breath samples, DMV is required by statute to suspend the person's driving privilege for six months.

It is not mandatory that the arresting officer offer alternate tests on refusal. But if the subject is unable, or states he or she is unable, to give two valid breath samples, the officer must offer the suspect a blood or urine test.

Dinner Planned for World Affairs Talks

The San Diego World Affairs Council in cooperation with the National Strategy Information Center of New York will present an evening seminar on world affairs Tuesday at the Vacation Village Conference Center.

Three speakers will be presented at 6 p.m. and will moderate a panel following dinner at 7:30.

Topics to be presented are "Oil, Soviet Seapower and the Geo-Economists of the Middle East;" "United States National Security Policy in Post-Vietnam Era" and "Soviet Views on Superpower Strategic Competition."

The public is welcomed to participate.

Registratioin is $2, dinner $8.50. Reservations may be made with the Council, 231-0111.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

On Thursday evening, January 29, 1976, I attempted to mail an important letter in the Lemon Grove Post Office. There were several parking places available, however, the access lane to the parking area was blocked by some cars full of young people. They had parked against the safety island and were headed in the wrong direction. After sitting there for several minutes, and not being able to park or go on through, I was obliged to back out (which is dangerous) and continue on down Broadway. The 'hoodlums' in the cars made no attempt to move for us.

As I am crippled and unable to get out of the car, my wife would have had to mail the letter. Since these 'new additions' to Lemon Grove were ganged all over the sidewalk in front of the doors with their beer bottles, etc., she was afraid to leave the car.

We have been residents of Lemon Grove for many years, and I just wonder what our city is coming to when this sort of thing is allowed to happen — and — continue to happen . . . where is the sheriff?

I called my lawyer and he says that this is private property and the only way a complaint can be made is for the post office to initiate it.

I realize that with the new youth-freedom attitude, we are supposed to back down at every opportunity to allow them to do as they please. Well, I for one, am not a backer-downer, and I wonder if other residents feel the same way.

Can't something be done to make our little city as pleasant and safe on Thursday evenings as it is during the rest of the week?

Must we allow them to take over???

Who are we afraid of???

FED UP!

Whale Watchers Aplenty

Over 187,000 people visited Cabrillo National Monument in January, an increase of almost 26,000 people above the total for January 1975.

According to Superintendent Tom Tucker, the summer-like weather and clear visibility combined with a record number of gray whale sightings to attract the crowds.

Reagan Wins in Mock National Convention

Ronald Reagan soundly trounced President Ford as delegates to Rancho Bernardo's mock national convention gave him more than half the electoral vote.

Reagan got 277 of the 538 electoral votes cast to Ford's 184. Nearest Democratic contender was Hubert Humphrey with 21.

The predominately Republican community of 15,000 residents gave less than 15 per cent of the votes to Democratic candidates.

All residents were given a ballot prior to the convention which listed all announced candidates in the Presidential election as well as providing space for write-ins.

Among the write-ins were San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, who delivered the keynote address at the "convention." George Washington, Gov. Brown and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller also received write-in votes.

Rancho Bernardo is a 5,900-acre town in the city limits of San Diego which is master-planned for 50,000 residents.

Congressmen to Address SD CoC

Three San Diego area congressmen, Democratic Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin and Republican Reps. Clair Burgener and Bob Wilson, will discuss issues of importance to San Diego in a Chamber of Commerce meeting Friday.

The luncheon begins at noon in the Grand Ballroom of the U. S. Grant Hotel.

Each congressman is expected to speak on several major issues, including the federal revenue sharing process, the possibility of a second international border crossing for San Diego, and President Ford's recent proposal to raise Social Security taxes in 1977. A question-and-answer session follows the presentations.

Neyenesch Expands Instant Print Service to E. County

Instant Printing Service, which pioneered the instant printing concept in the Western United States, is opening a new location in El Cajon at 311 E. Main Street.

In 1960, Instant Printing Service, a division of Neyenesch Printers Inc., became the first instant printing shop west of the Mississippi River when it opened at 2730 Ketner blvd.

During the Grand Opening celebration, which started Tuesday, a set of six historical prints of the El Cajon area is given away to all visitors to the new location, compliments of IPS and the Title Insurance and Trust Historical Collection.

Radio station KSON will do a live remove broadcast Saturday at the new shop.

Instant Printing Service has a complete facility in El Cajon, with many jobs handled while the customer watches. The new location is open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Instant Printing Service is geared to handle any quick printing jobs, including two-sided jobs and printing requiring colored ink. IPS has a complete inventory of papers, featuring a selection of colors and weights.

Neyenesch Printers, San Diego's oldest family-owned printing firms, has pioneered many innovations in the printing industry in San Diego and Southern California.

The company was started in 1898 when William Neyenesch came to San Diego from Chicago and started a print shop in the basement of the Hotel del Coronado.

Since then, the second generation of the Neyenesch family — sons Bob, Jim, John and Fred — led the company through a period of growth and expansion to its present position as one of Southern California's largest shops.

Today, there is a third generation of the Neyenesch family involved in the operation of the firm.

New Natural Gas Rates Bypass Small Users

The California Public Utilities Commission last week granted SDG&E a $1.7 million rate increase to recover from the higher cost of natural gas purchased from Southern California Gas Company.

Residents and small commercial customers using less than 200 therms a month will not be affected by the rate increase.

The increase means an overall increase of less than one-half of one per cent to homes and small businesses using over 200 therms. Other classes of service will realize a 7.23 per cent increase.

SoCal Gas was granted a $21 million increase by the PUC on January 20.

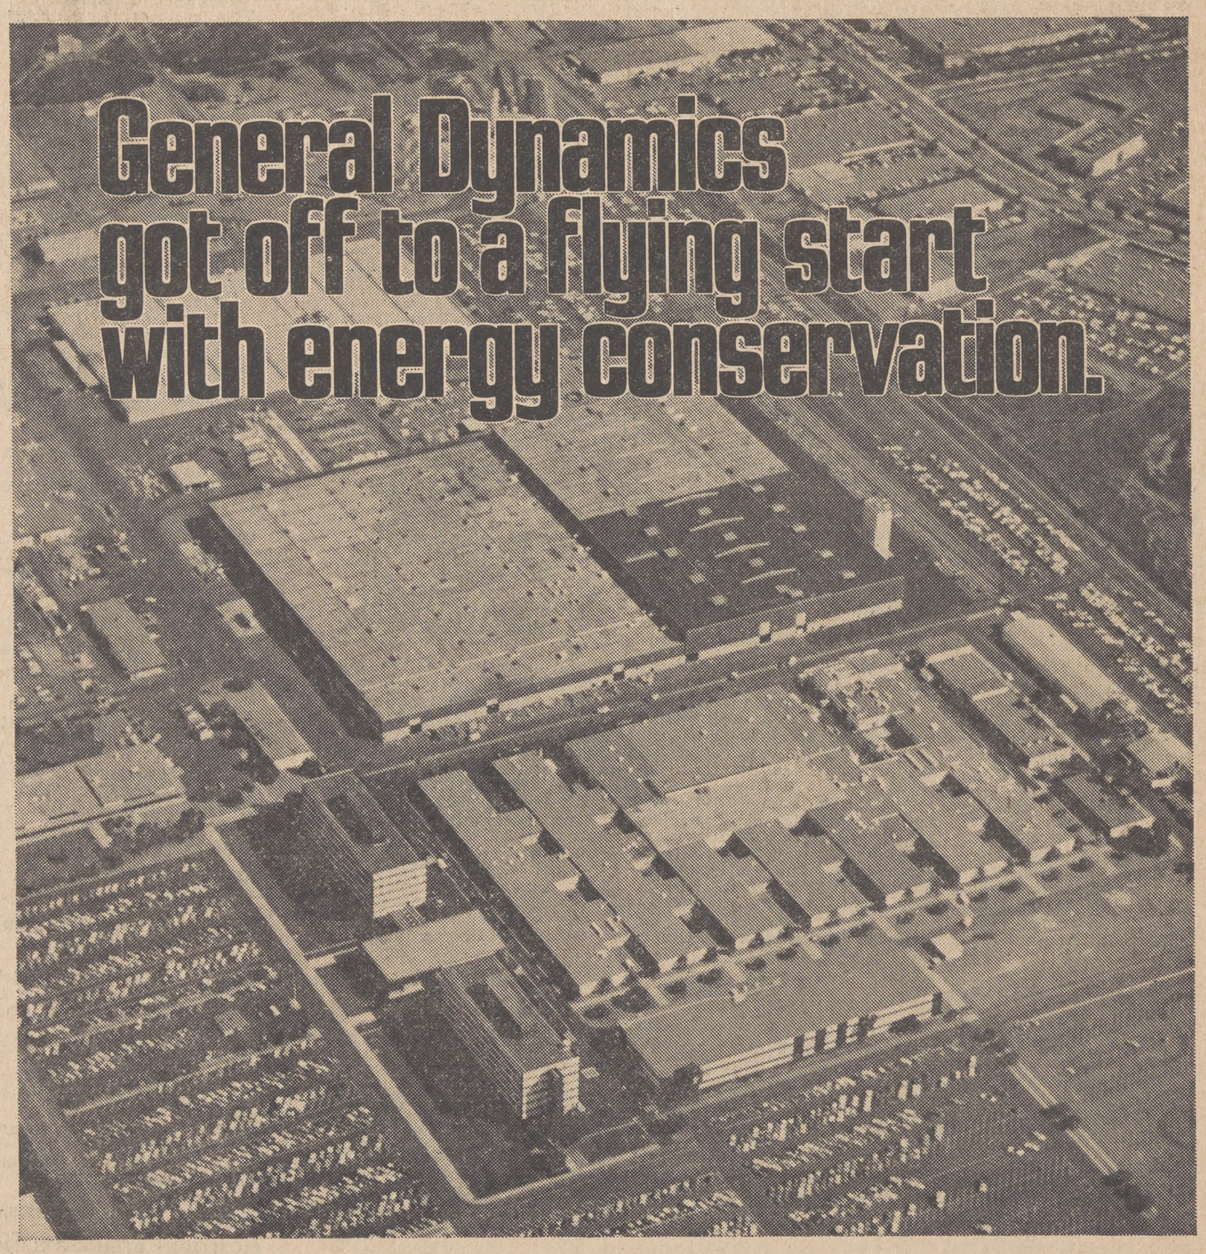
General Dynamics got off to a flying start with energy conservation.


1960. Sixteen years ago. Long before the oil embargo and energy crunch. That's when General Dynamics' energy conservation program got off the ground, complete with a full-time energy coordinator. Since that time, they've set one of San Diego's finest records of industrial energy savings.
Some of their secrets? Using their ventilating system and fresh air instead of air conditioning for comfort control. Standardizing lunch hours and reducing staggered shifts to save on light and heat. Turning off machines during set-up. Using individual lamps for work instead of lighting a whole area. Eliminating steam and compressed air leaks. Installing more efficient fluorescent lighting. Scheduling larger and fewer loads for heat treat furnaces. Insulating processing tanks and pipes. Consolidating work areas to save on heat, light and maintenance. Removed 40,000 lamps. Keeping doors closed. Cleaning light fixtures. And reinforcing all these practices with an ongoing employee reminder program.
The folks at General Dynamics are aces at energy conservation. And we frequently use them as an example when we're helping other San Diego businesses and industries cut down. But don't let their 16 year head start throw you. We've helped General Dynamics reduce consumption by 37%...in just the last two years. It's never too late to start saving energy, so give us a call today.
SDG&E SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY
If General Dynamics can do it, so can you. And we're here to help.
